START ENROLLMENT AT SCHOOLS TODAY

SENIORS ENROLL THIS MORNING AT MARYVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

RECORD AT ST. PATRICK

121 Enrolled There up Till Noon—50 are Enrolled at St. Mary's Grade School—More Expected

Enrollment started this morning at the Maryville Washington High School. Principal L. L. St. Clair and the teachers were busy all day classifying the seniors and assigning them subjects. All of the teachers had returned this morning and were ready to begin their work.

In the grade school, the pupils were passed to this year's room. School was dismissed at noon and regular work will start tomorrow.

There were eighty-four juniors last year in school and with the increase in non-resident enrollment this year the senior class should be a record breaker in number. Last year sixty-nine seniors were graduated, which was the largest class up to that time.

No estimate on the number of the school enrollment can be obtained yet, on account of the sophomores and freshmen not enrolling until tomorrow.

School will begin Wednesday and the necessary books will be ordered at that time.

One of the features in this year's schedule is the activity hour. This will be held the third period in the morning. There will be no classes in session at that time except the vocational work. At this period meetings of the different clubs and organizations will be held.

Last year was the first year this was tried and it was successful in its operation. Such clubs as dramatics, mathematics, debate, boys' and girls' literary and radio held meetings during the week.

On Mondays the school assembly is held. At this time both local and out-of-town talent is presented to the student body.

At the St. Mary's school about fifty pupils have enrolled up until noon. Several more pupils are expected this afternoon and tomorrow. The last year enrollment was about fifty and with the students who will enroll later, last year's enrollment will be surpassed. There are two teachers in charge of the eight grades which are taught at the school.

At the St. Patrick school the total enrollment up until noon was 121. This is the largest enrollment in the history of the school and an increase of six over the total enrollment of last year, which was 115. Of this number sixty are enrolled in high school and sixty-one in the grades. Last year only forty-eight were from the high school. There are three teachers in the high school division and three in the grades at St. Patrick.

A few more pupils are expected to enroll before next week.

AGGIES TO STUDY SOILS AND CROPS

G. K. ARNEY, INSTRUCTOR MAKES TOUR OF NODAWAY COUNTY

REQUIRE PROJECTS

Year's Work Will be Based on Individual Projects Students are Doing —Offers Practical Work

The agriculture class under G. K. Arney of Bethany will devote its time to the study of soils and farm crops this year. Last year the subject was livestock. For the first three months the topic of soils will be studied. The rest of the school year will be employed on the study of farm crops.

The study of crops, the subject of the methods of culture, seeding and harvesting will be studied. In soils it will deal with the fertility of the soil, maintaining this fertilty, the use of fertilizers and the preparation of the seed bed. All of the study in the class room will be woven around the work projects which the agriculture boys do during the year. These projects are the main part of the course.

In the projects each boy takes some phaze of farming as a project. An accurate account of work and expenses are kept by the boy and the work in his book applied in order to assure the success of the work. At the end of the year the boy turns in the tabulated accounts of his work. The projects range from two years down to six months in length.

The farm shop work will take up about six months of the school year. At this time the boys will construct feeders, and other useful farm materials in the agriculture shop room.

Field trips will be taken by the entire class when ever a field is found that demonstrates the topic of the lesson. If arrangements can be made the College fields will be inspected frequently by the class and many of the experiments will be demonstrated there.

A large activity program is being arranged by Mr. Arney. An agriculture club will be formed and many gymnasium work-outs and athletic programs will be held after school hours. Mr. Arney said that he enjoyed such work and liked to take part in it with the boys.

Since Mr. Arney arrived last week, he has taken motor trips over the county inspecting the type of farming employed and the crops raised. He said that Nodaway County was the best looking agriculture county in the state and was well pleased with the trip.

About twenty-five boys are expected to take the course in vocational agriculture.

"HOW A MAN LIVES MARKS HIS WORTH"

SAYS DR. C. C. JAMES IN HIS SERMON YESTERDAY MORNING

CLINE TO CONFERENCE

In Last Sermon of Conference Year Said Man Should Deny Himself and Bear the Cross

"Tell me how a man lives in his home and I will truly evaluate the man as to his worth to society," said Dr. C. C. James in his sermon on "President Harding, the Man" at the First M. E. Church yesterday morning. "Some one has written that not since the days of Robert and Elizabeth Browning has the world witnessed as pictureque married life and love than that revealed by the late President Harding and Mrs. Florence Kling Harding.

"The romance of their lives is one wholesome story of pure love growing stronger as the years slide quickly by. Not eccentric but normal expression of love as sweet as the music of a running brook, singing its way to the great sea."

Dr. James then told of their struggle to rise from poverty to prepare against the rainy day that some day comes into all of our lives. Their lives in the White House at Washington was the same running stream of beautiful life, Dr. James said.

The Harding married life was termed the ideal life by Dr. James; the Harding devotion, the ideal devotion.

The minister then called attention to President Harding's Ten Commandments, which he said were:

I believe that every question has two sides.

I will be truthful.

I will get at the facts in the case.

I will be decent and fair to all.

I will boost and not knock.

I will tell the story as it is, and not as I would wish it to be.

I believe in treating all folks alike.

I will treat religious matters reverently.

I will not bring any ignominy on an innocent woman.

I will be clean and never suggest the unclean.

This decalogue was taken from the Harding newspaper creed.

"Our late President was not a vociferous persons, who will attract attention because of his tones, but because he was a calm man, and a calm man will be heard above the din of unfriendly criticism. It has called for an exhibition of real courage to do some of the things he has done.

"Robert Browning truly portrays the character of Warren G. Harding in the following lines:

'One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,

Never doubted clouds would break,

Never dreamed tho right were worsted, wrong would triumph,

Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight, sleep to wake.' "

Should Deny Sin

"If there is even the slightest possibility of social card playing, social dancing, and playing cards at home then we are supposed to deny ourselves of them" said the Rev. B. F. Cline in his concluding sermon for the conference year. The Reverend Mr. Cline will leave tomorrow for the conference at St. Joseph.

The text of the sermon was taken from Luke 9:23. "If any man will come after me let him deny himself; take up his cross daily, and follow me."

"There are three phases of denial" said the Reverend Cline, "first, that which you know is wrong. Second, that which there might be a possibility as to it being wrong. Third, that which is good but conflicts with your Christian work.

"In the first case there is no question but what we should deny ourselves of it if we are to follow Christ.

"In the second case, such things as playing cards before your children at home may lead your child to be a gambler, or dancing at a social affair may lead to worse. There is a possibility of it leading to evil. This, according to our Christ must be denied to ourselves.

"In the third case, if you are planing a vacation or something which there is no doubt as to its good intention and it would interfer with some church work, that must be denied.

"There is two crosses which we must all bear on our shoulders. They are sin and service.

"Are we bearing our cross as Christ bore his or as Jonah did his?"

ORCHESTRA STARTS REHEARSALS SOON

M. H. S. ORCHESTRA PLANS TO GO TO EMPORIA NATIONAL CONTEST

TWENTY NEW MEMBERS

Special Practice for Beginners—Rehearsals Twice a Week for All of the Members

The Maryville High School orchestra will start its first rehearsal at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. About twenty new members are expected to join the orchestra this year to succeed the players who were graduated this last year. Loren Schnabel the music director urged all beginners in music to be present at this first rehearsal so as to begin work immediately.

The rehearsals will be held twice a week with practice for the beginners at the activity hour. At first only easy music will be played. All of those who are unable to play their parts are to be given individual instruction at the morning practices. It is almost impossible for a new student to begin in the middle of the year and play along with the rest so every one is asked to be at the first rehearsal.

The orchestra has three goals this year which they are anxious to reach. First, they wish to win the Northwest Missouri music contest at the College as they did last year. Second, if enough improvement is made Mr. Schnabel plans to take his orchestra to the national music contest at Emporia, Kan. Third, to play an engagement at the Kansas City Star Radio station, enroute from Emporia.

To do all of this it will be necessary for the co-operation of all members at every practice and a support of the Maryville people at the benefit concert which is given annually.

The orchestra this year is in need of an alto, a flute, cello, string bass, bassoon and oboe players in order to perfect the balance of the orchestra.

The following is the list of students who plan to enter the orchestra this year:

Violins — Hanson, Holt Dunkle, Dean, Edwards, Moore, Roseberry Raines, Tindall, Overmire, Roach, Snoderly, Hepburn, Miller, Forsyth, Swanson, Geist.

Clarinets—Goforth, Allen, Moore, Fisher, Person.

Flute—Hiatt and Oboe, Andrews.

Cornets—Gaugh, Williams, Westfall Warner, Bryant, Somerville, Kissinger and Carstens.

String Bass—Foreman.

Bass—Hartness.

Baritone—Gray and Neal.

Saxophone—Scandway and Jackson.

Horns—Anderson.

Drums—Glover and Yehle.

Cello—Gaugh and Jones.

Trombone—Hudson, Herndon, Nelson and Yeo.

Ruth Bush will take Hettie Mae Woodward's place at the piano.

Last year the average attendance of the orchestra was thirty members. This year with additional strength Mr. Schnabel predicted an average of fifty members.

After two years of service in the orchestra a member is admitted to the Maryville High School Club, and a gold lyre is presented to him.

Mr. Schnabel is also in charge of the quartets, the boys and girls glee clubs and the chorus. He also picks the individual representatives of the high school in the music contests.

150,000 REPORTED KILLED BY EARTHQUAKES IN JAPAN

NINE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI MEN AMONG MISSING.

CITIES ARE IN RUINS

Additional Tremblings are Reported Today—Millions are Homeless—Buildings are Demolished.

THE QUAKE'S TOLL

Cities of Tokio and Yokohama devastated by earthquake, fire, typhoons and tidal waves.

New quakes reported.

Hundreds of sea coast cities and towns within a radius of 100 miles destroyed.

A conservative estimate places the total dead at 100,000.

Millions are homeless.

Martial law in Tokio.

Six Korean looters shot.

Tens of thousands of buildings reduced to debris and burned.

Hundreds of thousands of refugees fleeing to open country.

Communication and transportation paralyzed.

Water supply cut off.

Plagues threatened.

Tons of rice sent to the stricken district from Osaka.

Shanghai, Sept. 3.—A new estimate of the dead in the Japan earthquake disasters is now 150,000.

Berkeley, Cailf. Sept. 3.—California was visited by three slight earthquake shocks last night, according to an announcement at the University of California observatory today. The estimated distance was about forty-five miles from here. The quakes began at 10:53 o'clock last night and continued until 10:20:30 o'clock. It is said that the shocks might have been in the Pacific and may possibly have been a recoil from the quakes in Japan.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The state department this afternoon cabled instructions to the American Counsel, Milton T. Johnson, now in northern China to proceed immediately to Yokohama to ascertain the number of American casualities in the Japanese disaster.

Johnson was notified to advise the state department on the fates of the American diplomats and American citizens now in the devastated territory.

Kansas City, Sept. 3.—Nine Kansas Citians are known to have been in the earthquake area of Japan. No communication from them had been received by relatives here today. All of them are graduates of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri. They are: Duke N. Parry, Tokio correspondent of the International News; Ben S. Kline; Glenn Babb, E. R. Egger, F. B. Smith, John R. Morris, Clive Lane, Victor Keene and Maurice Harris.

All of them went to the Orient soon after graduation. All, with the exception of Parry, are employed by the Japan Advertiser of Tokio, whose building is reported destroyed.

Shanghai, Sept. 3.—Two additional heavy earthquakes visited Japan today, adding to the already terrorized Empire fear and pandemonium.

The latest trembling of the earth was responsible for the destruction of 500 of the scant remaining homes in the vicinity of Tokio.

The situation is described as maddening.

Shooting of looters and other persons on the slightest provocation is reported in late dispatches.

It has been reported from Tokio that two members of the Emperial family met death as the building trembled and fell.

Odaway was completely overwhelmed and blotted out. The entire population lost their lives.

Japanese warships from Osaka are speeding to the stricken cities to render assistance.

The Japanese news agency at Shanghai has reported two additional shocks of pronounced severity today. The exact location of the shocks were not learned.

Manila, P. I., Sept. 3.—Latest reports here of the Japanese horror say that a gigantic tidal wave sent Odawara to its doom without leaving a trace.

Thousands were killed. In Tokio, the half burned palace is being thrown to as many refugees as can crowd into it.

Fires in Tokio and Yokohama continue to ravage with unabated fury.

London, Sept. 3.—King George sent the following message of condolence to the Japanese Emperor today:

"I hasten to express the horror with which I learn of the appalling disaster that has befallen your people. I sympathize with your people in this overwhelming catastrophe."

Washington, Sept. 3.—American destroyers are today speeding to the scene of the Japanese catastrophe. They are rushing to the stricken cities after a night of fruitless efforts to get into communication with the Far East. However, at 9 o'clock this morning, first news was recived and the long, long journey across the Pacific began.

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—Tokio, Yokohama and neighboring cities were burning ruins last night, while more than one hundred thousand persons in and near those cities were reported dead as a result of Saturday's earthquakes, according to advices received in San Francisco by Radio Corporation from its station at Tomioka.

In Tokio and Yokohama alone, it was reported, one hundred thousand had perished.

Death and destruction were spread over an area roughly comprised within a radius of fifty miles of Tokio. The extent of casualties and material damage outside that zone has not been determined, as all communication with Japan still is interrupted, except for brief connections by radio with Tomioka and occasional dispatches from Japan by way of Shanghai.

With railroad lines, telephone wires and all other means of communication and travel between Tokio and the remainder of Japan and the outside world cut off, Tokio and other cities on the Central Eastern sea coast on the island of Mondo are isolated in their desolation.

Fire Is Spreading.

Buildings were falling, fire was spreading everywhere, dead and dying were on all sides. There were explosions and crys of horror and fear by the panic-stricken populace.

What quake and fire did not destroy on land, tidal waves are reported to have crushed or sunk at sea. The fate of the ships in Yokohama harbor still remain to be determined.

The best available reports received said hardly a structure was left standing in the Tokio wards of Honjo, Fukagawa, Asakusa, Smitaya, Nihonbashi and Kanda.

Thousands are without food and water and no means of obtaining any at present. The Kaijo building in the Marunouchi district collapsed, with a thousand casualities.

In Yokohama the fire started in the bund, or foreign section, spreading rapidly to the business district, which was wiped out.

Tens of thousands of guests at resorts in the Mt. Hakone district, near Yokohama, were driven from their quarters by quakes and fires. They were panic stricken. The number of casualties is undetermined. The town of Atami was demolished, six or seven thousand persons being killed.

May Issue Proclamation.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A Presidential proclamation, calling upon the American people to contribute to the relief of the thousands of sufferers in Japan, probably will be issued from the White House within the next twenty-four hours, it was learned today.

The proclamation probably will be published just as soon as additional details from Japan make known the extent of the devastations and the condition of the unfortunate people.

Miss Green Describes How Strokes are Made

Miss Catherine Green of Spokane, Wash., gave a demonstration of swimming strokes at the Aley Sanitary Swimming Pool last Saturday evening. However, the attendance was very disappointing. Yesterday afternoon while there were a number of persons at the pool she gave another exhibition and told how the strokes were executed.

Miss Green with her parents left this morning by automobile for St. Joseph and then will go to their home in Spokane. The Aley pool will be refilled tomorrow morning and will not be open until the afternoon.

BRITISH PRESS IS HOSTILE TO ITALY

ADVOCATE IMMEDIATE INTERVENTION BY LEAGUE OF NATIONS

NO SECRET AGREEMENT

It is Denied That Great Britain Has Secret Understanding with Greece—Want Boycott

London, Sept. 3—British newspapers were aroused here today over the refusal of Premier Mussolini of Italy to accept an intervention by the League of Nations.

Many advocated that the League of Nations take immediate steps to impose an economic boycott on Italy.

Unconfirmed reports here state that the Servian army is being mobilized. It is further reported that a revolution plot had been discovered in Rumania. If Mussolini persists in refusing to accept the League's arbitration, it is understood that Great Britain will formerly support any action the League may take.

It is denied that Great Britain has any secret understanding with Greece.

According to word from Corfu, the entire loss of life there was caused by the explosion of a 6 inch shell.

Rome, Sept. 3.—The Italian government does not consider the Greek government is the equal of Italy before the League of Nations, and therefore has not considered it entitled to enter a plea as an equal before the League, it was stated today.

It was pointed out that Italy has not recognized the Greek government.

Organized labor and agriculture have much in common, he added. Girard advocated a big organization movement among farmers, with co-operative marketing as a solution for many of their difficulties.

"The industrial laborer is the big buyer of the surplus food stocks of the farm," he said.

BEGIN RIGHT IN YOUTH.—Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them. Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.—Ecclesiastes 12:1, 13.

WAR CLOUDS IN EUROPE.

The nervous tension that exists in Europe is well exemplified in the drastic demands made by the Italian government to Greece over the murder of its boundary commissioners. On its fact it would look like another war is in the offing.

It is up to Greece to punish those responsible for the murders and make suitable reparations to the victims' families, but the demands upon Greece are out of proportion to the offense. If it could be shown that the Greek government was responsible for the murders, it would be different but there is no apparent reason to believe that the Greek government is in any way responsible.

Another war is almost unthinkable and it is to be expected that common sense will prevail when allowed to come into play. Both countries should endeavor to do the right thing get down to work and try to pay their debts incurred in the war already behind us.

REACHING TOUGH BOYS.

Too many people who do not know how to appeal to the young crowd, a certain type of boy appears absolutely tough and not to be reached by any form of appeal.

A woman engaged in settlement work in a large city was recently telling of some of their experiences with the tough kid element. It was their practice to try to interest the young crowd in good children's books, and they would gather them at certain hours to tell them stories out of history and classic literature.

Certain boys, however, used to take delight in their toughness, and in showing that they did not propose to be improved. When asked what kind of books they liked, they would reply, "O we like the dime novels, the worst we can get. We are tough guys and you can't touch us."

However, the story telling hour was kept up, and these same kids in spite of themselves were drawn in. They became so fascinated by hearing the fine tales of heroism and real achievement, that they listened with open mouths and bated breath, and when the story was over, would beg for another.

Such instances go to show that there is always some way to appeal to the boy element if you only know the way to their hearts. Usually that way is to arouse their interest in achievement and in accomplishing fine and splendid results. The deeds of the forefathers of America or the men who have lived and sacrificed anywhere for the cause of human advance, can be made to seem far more interesting to them than any hero of a trashy novel. If the heart of a boy can thus be touched by giving him an admiration for the work of fine men, he will feel a desire to live a worthy life himself. There are few boys who are thoroughly bad at heart. Most of them have good impulses which can be aroused.

WHERE DO WE DRAW THE LINE?

A couple of weeks ago a scheduled ten round boxing match between one Firpo and some heavy weight set-up was stopped in St. Louis on the orders of the Governor because it was contrary to law. The act was generally approved but there was more or less speculation as to why this had not been done before. Boxing matches have been frequent in St. Louis among men less known than Firpo and the wonder was why it was more or a violation of the law for an aspirant for the championship to fight than for men of lesser note. That question has not been answered but the action was generally approved.

Full credit, however, has been withheld and probably will be withheld until some one can explain why the law pertains more particularly to one fight than another. It does not say that prize fights between heavy weights only are illegal nor that the participants are to be barred only after they have secured a certain reputation and drawing power.

Some are disposed to criticize the Governor because a match was pulled in his home town of Trenton a few nights ago resulting in a knock out. Perhaps the Governor did not know anything about that and it may have been within the law but it is also said that a match was pulled off in the state penitentiary for the entertainment of the prisoners July 4th with the consent of the prison board. The Governor may not have known anything of that until after it was over but he will likely be criticised just the same.

It is not practical to draw the lines too closely but, generally speaking, what is not permissible for the heavy weights should not be permissible for the feather weights, welter weights, light weights, middle weights, light heavies and so on.

THE RURAL SCHOOL MAIL BOX

There is always an interesting time for the agriculture class at Hillcrest school in Waukesha County, Wisconsin, when the mail arrives. No wonder, for this class search the advertising columns of papers and magazines that come to the school. When they see anything that they think will be of interest to them they write for it immediately. They are greatly interested in dairy cows because national dairy cow champions live within walking distances of the school.

They write all over the world to cattle breeders' associations for advertising material and to owners of dairy cow champions for pictures of their prize animals. From this material they get information and illustrations for their notebooks. But the knowledge they seek is not confined to dairy cows. Their agricultural notebooks show how many topics have been enlivened by incidents and illustrations found in farm bulletins, seed catalogues, and pamphlets and bulletins issued by manufacturers of farm machinery.

Every rural school should have a mail box. The teacher's mail should be delivered there. The school should take a daily paper, a current magazine suitable for elementary school children and a farm journal. It should be on the mailing list for certain bulletins and pamphlets issued by State and National agencies of education, agriculture and public health.

The worst thing about politics is the politicians that get mixed up in it.

One of the best ways to get higher in this life is to do business on the level.

A war between Italy and Greece would make it hard on the American restaurants and fruit stands.

Governor Pinchot seems to be making it hard for both operator and miner not to get together this time.

They say Firpo has no left but when it comes to getting in the coin, he seems to use one hand as well as the other.

It is a poor housewife that does not give her home a thorough cleaning once in a while and it is a poor town that does not give itself a cleaning occasionally.

Some men try to bore with an auger bigger than they can manage but more men use a gimlet. The heaviest competition in this world is over the least things and the smallest jobs.

Whatsoever ye sow that shall ye also reap is as true in citizenship as in morals. The man who constantly knocks shall in time be knocked by the progressive men of his town.

The American man now lives to an average of 50 as compared with an average of 41 in 1870. If this improvement can be kept up, we can eventually preserve some specimens to the ages of Biblical days.

Men sometimes place a queer value upon things that are worth the most. If a man can earn $5,000 per year for instance, that is equal to six per cent on a $50,000 investment. A man with $50,000 worth of property insures it against every form of disaster while the same man generally pays little heed to the preservation of his fifty thousand dollar body. Instead of treating yourself as a piece of junk, give yourself a square deal and your income will last longer and perhaps grow bigger.

Human Hair Made Into Cloth Resists Heavy Pressure

Tons of human hair are being turned into cloth by a southern factory to supply the demand of cotton-seed oil mills of that section for a fabric that will withstand, for a time at least, a pressure of 4,000 to 4,500 pounds a square inch. Only that made from hair is strong enough. Formerly it was woven from camel's hair, but the price of that product went to such high levels as to prohibit its use. After a series of tests, a method was devised for weaving human hair in specially constructed machines. The search for a sufficient supply to keep the factory going ended in China, where buyers found a veritable army of coolies ready to sacrifice their queues for American money. Bound in huge bales, the hair arrives at the factory ready for weaving, having already been inspected and sterilized on the way over from the Orient. Combed and carded, it is twisted into threads and fed into the looms, where it is woven into rolls of cloth ½ inch thick, the bolt weighing 400 pounds.

Mule, as Caddie, Carries Bags of Golfers

Because of lack of caddies, a mule is being used on one golf course in the South to carry the bags of the players. One of the mule's advantages over the human caddie is the fact that he can carry as many bags as can be strapped on his back. Then, too, he works without tips or pay.

Water Bike Aids Life Guards in Saving Drowning Persons

To aid life guards in rescue work, a floating frame supported in the water between two air tanks, enables them to reach danger points quickly. Half submerged, the rider drives a propeller by working pedals with his feet, traveling at greater speed than swimming would permit. The body of the victim may be easily thrown across the front of the tanks and carried to shore.

Tag Fish for Identification

A practical and comprehensive plan has been suggested by the Bureau of Fisheries, to help in studying the habits of various fish such as salmon, codfish, pollock and haddock. A device similar to a bachelor button of aluminum is riveted into the fish's tail. With this system the oceanic migration of fish, their rate of growth in various localities, and age can be determined. The bureau pays 25 cents each for tags sent in if accompanied by place and date of capture, length, weight and sex of fish, and how marked.

Sick Cured With War Gases

Deadly gases developed during the war are now being used to cure disease. Grip, colds, and the "flu" are quickly checked by chlorine gas, say army chemists. Mustard gas is being used to combat tuberculosis, while paresis, and other diseases, are being treated with some success with "lewisite," a gas of arsenic and acetylene, invented for use by American troops.

Auto Lights Under Fenders Remove Strong Glare

By having all of its rays strike directly on the road ahead, an automobile lamp attached by a single bolt to the under side of the front fender inside the wheel, does away with blinding glare of ordinary high-powered headlights that frequently annoy those driving at night. Its shaft of light, thrown for 300 feet, is low enough to avoid the eyes of approaching motorists and cyclists, and clearly shows the road from both directions, preventing many accidents and making dimming unnecessary. A bracket allows the level of the light to be raised or lowered with ease.

Mixing Feed for Hogs

The novel method of slopping hogs shown in the drawing has been found a great time and labor saver on an Iowa farm.

The iron tank shown in the foreground is placed at one end of the concrete watering trough, and can be filled with water from the pipe that supplies the trough. The tankage, shorts, or other ground feeds are mixed in the tank and enough water run in to make a thin slop. Then the valve indicated by the arrow is opened, and one of the troughs filled, whereupon the valve is closed again, the pipe swung over to the other trough, and this one filled. The valve and tank, and the inner ends of the troughs are fenced in as shown, so that the hogs will not interfere with the filling operation.

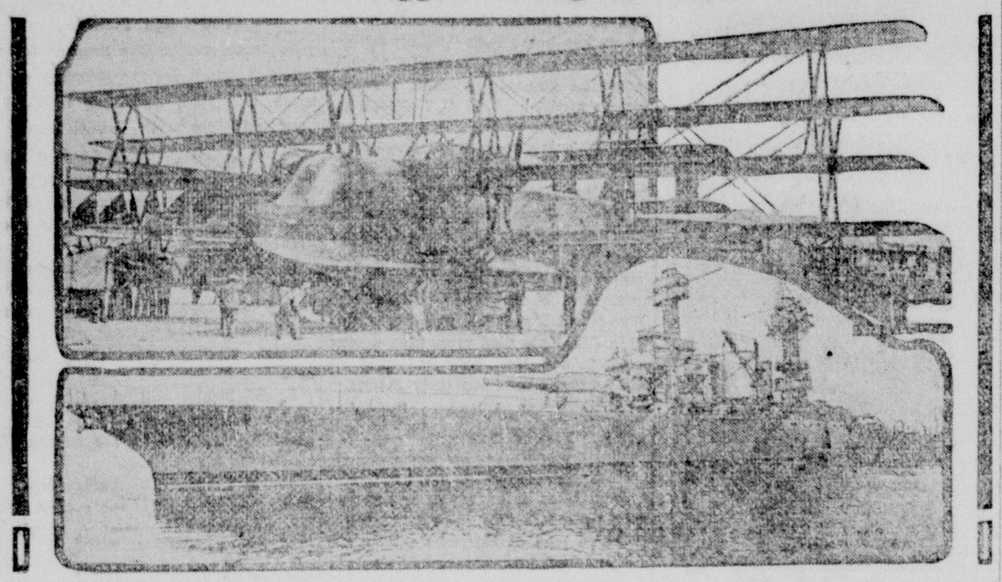
Two of the Biggest Things of Their Kind



Here are two of the biggest and most powerful things of their kind in the world. The U. S. S. Colorado, nearing completion at the yards of the New York shipbuilding company near Philadelphia, will surpass all other capital warships in striking power, speed and facility of control. The seaplane, recently completed at St. Raphael, France, is the largest in the world. It weighs ten tons and has four motors of 1,000 horsepower.

Discovery of the Sault by Brule Celebrated

Ojibway Indians joined with the white residents of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in celebrating "Discovery week," commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Sault by Etienne Brule. One of the features was a production of "Hiawatha" by the Indians of the district. Photograph shows Indian wigwams erected on the shore and on adjoining islets, and the Cairn erected by the Dominion sites and monuments board at the old Northwest company's lock, unveiled by Dr. J. H. Coyne, F. R. S. C.

Gasoline Price War Makes Motorists Happy

Motorists of middle western states forgot some of their motor pet peeves when they received the news that the Standard Oil company of Indiana had slashed the price of gasoline following the people's war on the high price of this product. Like these pretty girls, they all ordered the attendants to "fill it up."

Late Telegraph News

St. Louis, Sept. 3. — An extensive campaign to advertise the international air races to be held here October 1, 2 and 3 has been inaugurated and a score of speakers soon will be placed in the field working out of this city.

Plane flights to numerous cities in Missouri and adjoining states will be made as another feature of the advertising campaign.

Speakers will address all clubs and other organizations in many nearby towns during September. R. Fullerton Place will fly to Des Moines as the first out-of-town speaker to address the Iowa state fair there this week. Another will fly to St. Joseph where the pony express anniversary celebration is being held.

Flights will be made to Kansas City, Springfield, Joplin, Jefferson City and Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Omaha and Lincoln, Nebr.; Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati, O.; Indianapolis and Evansville, Ind.; Chicago, Peoria, Bloomington, Springfield, Rock Island and Decatur, Ill.; Louisville, Ky.; Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Little Rock, Pine Bluff and Forth Smith, Ark.; Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Muskogee, Okla.; Wichita and Topeka, Kan.; Cedar Rapids, Ia., and other cities.

Durant, Okla., Sept. 3. — What is believed to be the highest prices ever paid for a cold drink was shoved across the bar in a drug store here recently by William Hynds. He parted with 10,000 German marks for a 15-cent ice cream soda. The marks cost Hynds $200 in 1920 before the extended drop in value.

Even at that, Hynds declared he got the drink at a bargain, for at the present quotation on German currency, he paid 1-3 of a cent for his thirst-quencher.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 3.—Travelers stopping over in Wichita's union station again may be forced to swat their own flies or let the insects play at will for the official city fly swatter has quit by request of patrolmen on duty at the station.

For several weeks the station was the scene of the fly eradicator's ceaseless activity. He would sit for hours at a time in the waiting rooms swatting flies and never spoke to anyone to explain the peculiar obession.

Finally the task of cleaning up the hundreds of dead flies worked on the nerves of the station porters. They explained. So the station patrolman notified Sweeney, the Swatter, as the man had been labeled, that his services no longer were needed.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 3. — Revenue from the sale of motor car licenses for the year to date amounts to $3,000,000. This shows an increase in the number of cars being used in Oklahoma, according to Paul R. Nesbitt, highway engineer, who recalls that last year only $2,729,000 was taken in similarly.

The total number of automobiles registered with the highway department is 295,000.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 3.—Many laborers from outside the state will be needed to help harvest the Kansas crop of broom corn this year, according to Judge John H. Crawford of the industrial court. The court's department of labor will assist in directing laborers to the fields in the southwestern part of the state.

Seward county alone will need 1,000 extra men to help harvest the broom corn, it was said.

Topeka, Kans., Sept. 3. — Kansas, like Indiana, is coming into the reputation of being a state of writers. Several of the most popular novels were written by Kansans and there are innumerable writers of all kinds living within its boundaries.

It has been said that nearly every Kansan at some time has the inspiration to write, and it is a fact that many editors and reporters working in all parts of the country were furnished by the Sunflower state. Hence, Phil Eastman, himself an author, has his heart set upon creating a "Kansas Bookshelf."

The plan is to have as complete an exhibition of the works of Kansas as is possible assembled for a booth in the Kansas state fair which opens here September 10. Eastman explained. Of course the exhibit cannot be made complete this year, the author said, but a good showing can be made and it can be added to regularly.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 3.—Instances in which exhorbitant fees have been charged by attorneys and other persons to secure clemency or pardons in Oklahoma has led Gov. J. C. Walton to order the state legal department to prepare a bill for presentation at the next legislature prohibiting such charges.

"Machinery for conviction will be worked out," the governor said, "that this hijacking of unforutnates will be stamped out."

"There may be legitimate excuse for fees for the preparation of petitions and their presentation to the chief executive, but such fees should be very limited," Governor Walton declared.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 3. — Two ghastly living skeletons - more like specters than human beings, a 43-year-old woman and her 67-year-old mother, are nearing death in a filthy Fort Worth rooming house.

Both are suffering from an incurable disease resulting from the use of habit forming narcotics. Their case has been under supervision of federal narcotic authorities for a year, but their efforts to relieve their suffering have been in vain.

The daughter, formerly a nurse contracted the habit when working in a hospital where she developed her first incurable malady. The aged mother, whose face still bears traces of refinement and a better living says she contracted the disease while nursing her daughter.

Both women admit their cases are hopeless and that they are awaiting relief of death to escape misery that after effects of the morphine brings them.

Chanute, Kans., Sept. 3.—What was believed to be the first offfcial Ku Klux Klan weding held in the Southwest was performed in an open air auditorium near her recently. More than 2,000 white-robed knights of the fiery cross attended.

Robert E. Highley, 27 years old, and Helen Thirwell, 21, were the bride and groom.

Light for the ceremony was furnished by a huge fiery cross that was suspended high above the assembly. The Rev. T. L. Wolf officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Nelson and son, George W. of Guilford, and A. O. Beck of Guilford are business visitors in Maryville today. Mr. Jacob has bought a forty-acre piece of land one mile west of Guilford and was looking up the title. He reports that a damaging hail storm last Friday night northwest of Barnard stripped clean the leaves from the corn.

Miss Celeste Taylor of Cabool, who is going to teach the Green school this year, was here today making arrangements at the office of the superintendent of schools.

No More Bedbugs Are Wanted

"Send no more bedbugs," is the plea of the Agriculture department after sending out a request for the 1,200 husky specimens, offering to pay 1 cent each. Dr. Walter S. Abbott, head of the insecticide board, who sent out the request is shown in his laboratory where the bugs are used to test various so-called bug destroyers. The request brought 4,000 bugs from one man and a Kansas woman sent 112.

The Alterer of Habits

FRANK STOCKTON wrote a tale about a monarch who relied on an official called the "Discourager of Hesitancy." This officer's task was to prod folks who dallied over important decisions.

Modern advertising likewise fosters prompt and judicious decisions. But advertising might better be called the "Alterer of Habits." It brings many changes to pass. And these changes are for the better—always.

Advertising has revolutionized the personal habits as well as the buying habits of the nation. It has elevated our standards of living. It has made us eat better, sleep better and dress better. It has added countless comforts and conveniences to the daily life of each one of us.

Advertising has taught us how to find the best buys in almost everything imaginable without indulging in the needless habit of "shopping around." It tells us just where and when to go for what we want and how much to pay. It lets us compare prices and qualities without even stirring from our homes. It vouchsafes our money's worth.

Do you read the advertisements that appear daily in this paper?

IT'S A PROFITABLE HABIT.

Three Reports Are Adopted By Constitutional Convention

By J. S. Hubbard, Executive Secretary Missouri Press Association.

Jefferson City, Sept. 1—The work of the convention is nearing its close. Another week may see the winding up of its labors and the public will soon know just what is to be offered for its consideration. Third reading and final passage of reports was taken up this week and the first two days of voting saw three reports adopted. These were the articles covering Preamble, Bill of Rights and Distribution of Powers, Legislative, and Executive and Ministerial Departments.

Only two propositions in the Bill of Rights were voted out. The first was the proposition to insert the words, "the pursuit of happiness" in section 4, and it leaves the section just as it appears in the constitution of 1875. The other was the provision that would have allowed the state to take change of venue in criminal prosecutions, a right now reserved to the defendant. This failed of adoption finally by a vote of 30 to 40.

The section relating to freedom of speech and of the press, as amended and adopted, reads: "That no law shall be passed impairing the freedom of speech; that every person shall be free to say, write or publish whatever he will on any subject, being responsible for all abuse of that liberty; and that in all suits and prosecutions for libel the truth there may be given in evidence."

Sections 20 and 21 dealing with the taking of private property for private or public use have been rearranged although the substance is the same as in the old constitution. The first deals exclusively with the taking of private property for private use and the other with taking private property for public use, the last part of the old section 20 being transposed to the end of section 21.

Section 8, dealing with religious corporations, was adopted as it was approved when last before the convention. It provides "That no religious corporation shall be established in this state, except such as many be created under general law for the purpose of conducting the missionary, charitable or educational activities of a religious denomination or body, and owning real and personal property for such purposes; but such corporation shall not hold real estate for any period longer than six years, except such as it used solely for church edifices, parsonages, cemeteries, schools, hospitals, orphanages, or similar non-gainful religious, charitable or educational purposes."

Section 12, dealing with indictments shows an important improvement, since it provides "that the indictment or information shall be sufficient if it state in plain and concise language the facts constituting the alleged offense."

A new section has been added providing that "The right of citizens of Missouri to vote or hold office shall not be denied or abridged on account of race, color or sex."

Twenty-five other sections of the Bill of Rights remain unchanged, though amendments were offered to several of them. The Preamble, Boundaries and Divisions of Powers remain the same as in the old constitution.

Legislative Article

In the legislative article several important amendments have been made. The initiative and Referendum have a place at the head of the article in the revision. The number of signatures necessary for referring a law has been increased from 5 to 10 per cent of the legal voters in at least two-thirds of the congressional districts in the state. For initiating a law eight per cent of the voters must be secured to a petition as at present, but for initiating an amendment to the constitution the requirement will be 12 per cent. Laws enacted by the initiative may be amended or repealed as any other law. Referred laws are to be submitted on the ballot in the following form: "Shall the act of the general assembly be rejected?" This will put the burden of the fight to defeat the law on the enemies of the act.

An important change is made in the pay of the legislators and employes of the general assembly. The pay of members is increased from $5 to $10 per day for seventy days and from $1 to $2 for each day over the constitutional seventy. Revising sessions are fixed at ninety days for the maximum pay and the first session after the adoption of the new constitution at 100 days. The pay of employes is limited to $400 per day in the house and $300 per day in the senate. It was stated in debate on this measure that expenses had run as high as $2400 a day in some sessions. In extra sessions it is provided that the limit shall be $200 per day in the house and $150 per day in the senate. Each member is to be allowed $30 for postage, stationery and incidental expenses.

Provision is made for the election in the senate of a president pro tempore and in the house of a speaker pro tempore. These, with the speaker, are to receive the sum of $2.50 per day extra compensation.

The beginning of the fiscal year is changed in the new code from January 1 to commence on July 1, and appropriations made by the first general assembly after the adoption of the constitution are to be for two and one-half years. This change is important in that the state departments and state institutions will not have to wait on legislative action each odd numbered year for money to carry on their work.

The general assembly is empowered specifically to enact compulsory or elective workmen's compensation laws and to provide for their administration.

The section in the report of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare has been added to the legislative report and reads: "The general assembly shall provide by law for the safeguarding of the public health."

Good Budget System.

The outstanding provision in the article on Executive and Ministerial Departments is that calling for an executive budget system. It is considered by its supporters as one of the most important provisions in the revised constitution, and one that should result in a saving to the state each year of more than the entire cost of the convention.

It is made the duty of the governor to prepare for submission to each session of the legislature a budget for the ensuing biennial period. He may require any officer or employe of the executive departments expending or supervising the expenditure of state moneys to furnish him itemized estimates and other information in such form and at such times as he may direct and may revise such estimates and provide public hearings at which he may require the attendance of such officers or employes.

Within ten days after the convening of the general assembly itemized estimates of the financial needs of each house are to be furnished to the governor to be included in the budget without revision but with such recommendation as he may think proper.

Within fifteen days after the beginning of the regular session the governor is to submit the budget which is to contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues. It is to contain all the estimates so revised or certified and is to be accompanied by a bill or bills for all proposed appropriations and reappropriations clearly itemized; it is to show the estimated revenues for the ensuing fiscal biennial period and the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of the current fiscal biennial period together with the measures of taxation, if any, or for borrowings, if any, which the governor may propose for the increase or decrease of the revenues; it must be accompanied by a statement of the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the state; statements of the debts and funds of the state; an estimate of its financial condition as of the beginning and end of the biennial period; such other information as may be required by law and a statement of revenues and expenditures for the biennial period next preceding, in a form suitable for comparison. The governor may before final action by the legislature amend or supplement the budget submitted.

May Reduce Items.

It is provided that the general assembly may not alter an appropriation bill submitted by the governor except to strike out or reduce items it contains, but his provision does not apply to items for the general assembly nor the judiciary. The governor is given the right and the heads of departments may be required to appear before either house to be heard and to answer inquiries relating to the budget.

Budget appropriation bills passed by the general assembly without amendment are to become laws immediately without further action by the governor, but appropriations for the general assembly and the judiciary are to be subject to his approval.

It is provided that the general assembly may not pass any other appropriation bills until the budget appropriation bills recommended by the governor have been finally acted upon by both houses, and not then unless the revenues and income to pay such appropriations have been provided for, or unappropriated funds sufficient to pay them remain in the treasury or the income and revenue as estimated by the governor show an unappropriated balance sufficient to cover the amount appropriated.

Limit Appropriations.

The general assembly is prohibited from making any appropriation for any fiscal period in excess of the income provided for that period, as the income is estimated by the governor.

Another important provision in the executive article is that which limits the executive departments to a total of twelve. Five of these are named as follows: State, headed by the secretary of state; treasury, headed by the state treasurer; audit and accounts under the direction of the state auditor; law, directed by the attorney-general, and education headed by the department of education. Provision is made that the general assembly may name not to exceed seven more departments under proper supervision and all the powers and duties of the executive department of the state government are to be exercised by and through these departments and not otherwise. All offices, boards, bureaus, commissions and agencies then exising and exercising those powers and duties are to be abolished.

The proposal cutting down the number of members in the house from 150 to 63 and of the senate from 34 to 21 received unexpected support in the convention the first of the week and was passed to engrossment. Whether or not it will muster 42 votes on final passage remains to be seen. That party lines were broken was shown by the fact that eleven democrats supported it and nine republicans opposed its adoption.

You generally can believe what most men tell you until they begin to talk about fishing or their golf game.

LEGION CONVENTION RATES ANNOUNCED

ROUND TRIP FROM ST. JOSEPH TO COAST IS $63.60

CAN MAKE SIDE TRIPS

No "Price Gouging" by Hotels—San Francisco is Planning a Big Time for Legionnaires

Special round-trip fares for Legion men who are going to the National Legion Convention at San Francisco, Cal., October 15-19, have been announced. Examples of fares from some points by the way the direct routes are:

Kansas City, $63.60; St. Joseph $63.60; St. Louis $73.64; and Springfield, $69.34. The fare from Maryville will not be known until some time this month, according to Edward W. Gray, of the local post of the American Legion.

The railroads that are making the special rates will give the Legionnaires advantage of a month's stay in California, in order that they can make side trips from San Francisco. The return time limit is November 15. This means that the Legion men must leave the coast in time to reach their original starting point by November 15. In order to visit points of interest on the route out and back, stop-overs have been planned by making arrangements with the conductors.

The holders of excursion tickets to the convention will be given the privilege of optional routes to the coast. If Legionnaires wish to make hotel reservations in San Francisco, they must make arrangement for accomodations through state headquarters.

In order to secure excursion tickets, delegates and visitors must get authorized identification certificates. These certificates will be issued from the state headquarters of the American Legion after September 15. Members of the American Legion widows of deceased Legion members and members of the American Legion Auxiliary are the only persons eligible to get these certificates. The pullman rate one way, lower birth, is $15.88.

It is suggested that those going to the convention at San Francisco take along a heavy overcoat as the evenings become quite chilly.

San Francisco is planning a big time for the Legionnaires this year. According to representatives of the national convention committee of the Legion convention arrangements will exceed those which have been prepared in the past. They say there will be no "price gouging" by hotels and restaurants. Among the several pleasure jaunts that have been planned is a trip to Chinatown.

A bulletin recently received by the American Legion Post from state headquarters says that President Coolidge favors the soldiers' bonus bill. William Doyle, commander of the Massachusetts' Legion has been in conference with the President says that President Coolidge was the first governor to sign a state bonus bill and believes that he favors the national bonus bill.

Barackman Will Meet W A. Wolfe Tonight

Match Decides Middle Weight Title of Missouri—to be Held at College Gymnasium

Mervin Barackman of near Sheridan, who makes his headquarters at Maryville, will meet William Wolfe of Kansas City in a finished wrestling bout this evening. The match will be held in the college gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock. The match will decide the champion wrestler of Missouri.

Wolfe is the middleweight title holder of Missouri. Barackman has met all comers and for the last two years has not been defeated.

Dr. D. J. Thomas who was formerly a member of the wrestling team at the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia will officiate at the bout. Doctor Thomas urges everyone to come early as two of the preliminary matches for which he has arranged may not be held. He also asks that the men refrain from smoking as the bout is being held in a college building and there are a number of women expected to be present.

A wrestling match which will be of interest to local fans is now being arranged. Doctor Thomas is trying to get Jack McGill of Wismer, Neb., who wrestled Barackman in July for over an hour and was injured, to come here for a bout on the 17th of this month.

Barackman participated in a wrestling bout at Sheridan Saturday night with Wolfe's trainer and won in two straight falls. He threw his rival the first time in forty-two minutes and succeeded in putting him down for the second fall in short order. An erroneous report has been circulated in Maryville that Barackman was defeated Saturday.

Education to Be Encouraged

National Week Will be Observed November 18 to 24

The program for American Education Week, which has been announced as the week begining Sunday, November 18, and ending Saturday, November 24, has been arranged by the American Legion, the National Education Association and the United States Bureau of Education, working in co-operation.

The subject selected for the first day, Sunday, November 18, is "For God and Country," and ministers will be asked to discuss education as it effects the home, the school and the church. The slogan for that day is to be "A Godly Nation Cannot Fail."

Friday, November 23, will be Community Day, and it is expected that every rural community will assemble at the schoolhouse on that day. Suggested topics for that day are: Equality of Opportunity for Every American Boy and Girl," "Rural Schools, City Schools and Colleges," "A Public Library for Every Community," and "Children Today—Citizens Tomorrow.

The other days in the week have been designated as American Constitution Day, Monday; Patriotism Day, Thursday; and Physical Education Day, Saturday.

Total Eclipse of the Sun on September 10

Will be Only Partial in Maryville, However, Starting at 2:13 p. m.

A total eclipse of the sun, the first to be visible in the United States since the path of totality of the eclipse of June 8, 1918, will be visible in the United States Sept. 10. The path of the coming eclipse starts in the northern Pacific, just off the coast of Asia. After crossing the entire Pacific ocean it first strikes land just off the coast of California, and then strikes Mexico and ends off the northern coast of South America.

The only part of the United States at which totality will exist is San Clemente Island, off the coast of California. Totality will last three minutes and 36 seconds at San Clemente Island, which is within one second of the longest duration of any point on the central line. This compares very favorably with the scant two minutes, at the most, afforded observers of the 1918 eclipse.

Although totality will exist on only small percentage of the earth's surface, a partial eclipse will be visible over most of the United States with the exception of the northern part of the New England states. The eclipse at Maryville will begin at 2:13, reach its maximum at 3:23 p. m., and end at 4:28 p. m. Sixty per cent of the total surface of the sun will be covered here.

Of Particular Interest.

The eclipse will be of particular interest to observers of this country as it is the only one which will occur under weather conditions favorable to good observations on United States territory until 1945. There will be an eclipse in January, 1925, visible in the northeastern part of the country, but it will occur in the early morning under winter conditions so that prospects for good observations are not good. Even if weather conditions were perfect it would be impossible for astronomers to work as totality will last only two seconds. The eclipse is also of interest to observers because of the proximity of Venus to the sun. Such an alignment of four celestial bodies—the earth, moon, sun and Venus, is extremely rare owing to the incommensurability of their orbital periods. This occurence will not be repeated this century, although the condition will be approached during the eclipse of 1957 and the totals of 1962 and 1992. Venus, shining through outer corona on this occasion, should offer an opportunity to study the absorption spectra of these solar appendages.

Astronomers from all over the world will gather at different points along the path of totality to observe the phenomena. The Lick observatory expedition will locate in the neighborhood of Ensenada, Lower California, with an extensive equipment.

Expedition From Germany.

An expedition from Germany will observe the eclipse in Mexico and the test of the Einstein theory, that of photographing the star fields around the sun to observe the bending of the rays of light from the stars upon passing near the sun, which causes the star image to appear displaced from its normal position, will be part of the program of observation.

The Sproul observatory of Swathmore college will establish a station at Cuencame, Mexico for the purpose of obtaining plates to test the Einstein theory, as well as to photograph the flash spectrum and to photograph the solar corona with lenses of 65 feet, 104 inches, and 38 inches respectively.

The Mexican government will establish two stations, one at Cuencame and the other at Berrendo. Photographs of the corona will be made.
